

Creating Inclusive Learning Environments in the #MeToo Era

No Registration Required - Free and Open to the Public!

April 2, 2019 | Claxton Room | EUC | UNC Greensboro

Keynote Address
Jada Monica Drew
Social Designs, LLC
Talk title: "Grey Matter"
12:00 - 1:00pm

Gwen Hunnicut, Ph.D.
Associate Professor
UNCG Department of Sociology
Talk title: "#MeToo as Grassroots Politics:
What we can do in our own backyard
to create inclusive environments"
2:15 - 2:45pm

Jennifer M. Whitney, Ph.D.
Director, Counseling Center
UNC Greensboro
1:15 - 1:45pm

Student Panel
3:00 - 3:45pm

Murphie Chappell, J.D.
Title IX Coordinator
Office of the Chancellor
UNC Greensboro
1:45 - 2:15pm

Symposium Wrap Up
Carla Fulwood
Assistant Director
Office of Intercultural Engagement
UNC Greensboro
3:45 - 4:00pm

Moderators

Nadja Cech, Ph.D.
Professor of Chemistry
UNC Greensboro

Steven R. Cureton, Ph.D.
Assoc. Professor of Sociology
UNC Greensboro

Augusto "Gus" Peña
Director, Office of Intercultural Engagement
UNC Greensboro

UNC Greensboro is the most diverse campus in the UNC System. In coming together within and outside the classroom, we have immense opportunities to learn from each other and to grow together. How do we create supportive environments where such learning and development can take place? With the symposium, "Creating Inclusive Learning Environments in the #MeToo Era", we will draw on expertise from within and outside the UNC Greensboro campus community to ask this question. We will hear from faculty and student speakers and from our counseling and Title IX offices. The conversation will lead off with a keynote presentation from Jada Monica Drew of Social Designs, LLC, an expert in transforming working environments into inclusive and effective spaces. Please join us to be a part of this conversation.